Internet and Real World Safety

This quarter in Technology class, the Kindergarten through 3rd grade Park Elementary School students learned about how to stay safe online and in the real world. They have watched videos, discussed issues, and shared information about being NetSmartz!

Here two very good resources to help parents and kids to understand and discuss online and real world concerns like cyberbullying, social media, netiquette, personal safety, and more.

CHERI GUALDONI

Hello, my name is Mrs. Gualdoni. This is my 32nd year of teaching as an Intervention Specialist. I have taught at Park Elementary for 18 years and have my Masters Degree in Curriculum Instruction.

I live in Painesville Township with my husband Bill. My daughter Heather and her husband Aron have 3 children, Koen (11), Andraliese (3) and Rorric (1). My son Eric is in the Air Force and he and his wife Roxanne live in Idaho.

I enjoy working in the yard, spending time with family and friends and researching and recording family history. This year I would like to see my students become more confident and motivated learners.

BOOK FAIR is coming to Park Elementary!!

The fair will be open for student shopping Monday, October 21st, 22nd, 24th, and 25th. Parents are invited to shop the fair after school or on Parent-Teacher Conference night Thursday, October 24th.

Students will be visiting the book fair during their regular library time. . (Please note: Mr. Mullaly's class will be coming to the book fair, Friday October 25th.)

At the book fair, students will have a chance to win prizes by participating in our candy guessing game contest. Students who purchase at least one book will be entered in a drawing to win a poster!

Once again, we will be accepting donations for the Scholastic All for Books program during the book fair. All the money we raise will be used to purchase new books for our school library. Scholastic Book Fairs® will then match our monetary donations with a donation of up to one million dollars in books from The Scholastic Possible Fund, which distributes books to children in need. Students who donate a quarter or more to the All for Books drive will receive an extra entry in our poster contest!

While we encourage students to purchase books, there will be other merchandise available for purchase at the book fair, such as school supplies and posters. We do ask for written parental permission for students to purchase posters.

New this year!! Book Fair eWallet

Give students a secure, cash-free way to shop the fair. There is no charge to set up an eWallet. Parents simply create an account and authorize a spending limit on their credit card.

A FEW WAYS YOU CAN HELP PARK SCHOOL ...

Park Elementary Students are (Box) Tops!

Most of you are probably aware of the Box Tops for Education program. Some of you may still have sore fingers from clipping them out last year. Well you can put down your scissors, and pick up your phone! With the new "Box Top$ for Education" app, it's as easy as snapping a picture! Each top is worth 10¢, and with the app, our goal of $1,000 this year is now easier to achieve than ever. The app will even show you how much you've earned, and how much the school has earned overall for the year.

You can find box tops on products from brands like General Mills, Pillsbury, Betty Crocker, Nature Valley, Annie's, Yoplait, Land O' Lakes, Ziploc, Hefty, Paper Mate, Lysol, and even Kleenex. For a full listing, visit <https://www.boxtops4education.com>. Some products still have the original box top logo. For those, simply clip and send them to school with your child.

If you have any questions about the Box Top program, please contact:

Make Every Day Count: Boost School Attendance

To stay on track in school, students need to be present every day. Missing 18 or more days of school in a year puts a child's high school graduation at risk, according to BoostUp.org, a national dropout prevention campaign. Being absent for just two days every month of the school year can put a child behind academically.

Students with regular attendance are more likely to read well by third grade and score higher on tests. They also tend to be more engaged in school and feel better about themselves.

Put your child on the path to success with these attendance strategies.

Make school a priority. Every absence (excused or not), can impact a child's academic achievement. Talk to your child about how important their education is. Make daily routines for homework and waking up on time for school.

Maintain communication with teachers and keep an eye on your child's academic progress. If your child seems disconnected from school or is prone to skipping class, try signing him or her up for an after-school activity. A report by the University of Minnesota found that students in an after-school program attended 18 more days of school and missed nine fewer than their peers.

Make a plan. If your schedule or transportation situation makes getting your child to school a challenge, ask for assistance. Make a carpool or transportation plan with other parents or family members, or ask your school principal for community programs or school initiatives that may help.

Report In. Know your school's attendance policies. If an absence or early dismissal is unavoidable, contact your school. If your family's religious observances fall on school days, let teachers know early in the year which days your child will miss.

Carefully weigh sick days. If your child is sick, talk with your health care provider to determine whether they should stay home from school. If the doctor or nurse recommends that your child stay home, find out exactly how long and on what conditions he or she can return to class (for example, after 24 hours of antibiotics).

Before keeping your children home, make sure they aren't faking symptoms. Regularly feigning sickness may be a sign that your child is anxious about facing a challenge at school, such as bullying.

Schedule wisely. Know your school's calendar, and arrange doctor and dentist appointments after school, on weekends, or during holiday breaks, if possible. Resist the urge to schedule vacations when students will miss school. This gives students the impression that school is not a priority.

Help students complete assignments. When your child has to miss school, make arrangements with teachers to pick up a packet of make-up work. Ensure that your child follows through, and be available to explain concepts or monitor their work. If your child's absence will be lengthy (for surgery, for instance), alert teachers as soon as you know and pick up assignments as the days go on.
